

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 An apparatus and method for interfacing multiple registrar systems are presented. A first registrar system is operable to book a domain name for a customer in a first manner. A second registrar system is operable to book a domain name for a customer in a second manner different than the first manner. A means for interfacing the first registrar system and the second registrar system is provided such that the first registrar system and the second registrar system are accessible from a single web site.
